Mr. Watson, Miss Gibert, Mr. Howard, Mrs. Gerken and a Host of Others to Be Entered—Jumpers Will Be Best in the Country.

THE Richmond Horse Show, which will open on the night of October 8th and run every night during the week, with one or two matinees, promises to give an exhibition in the harness classes this year that even the national show in Madison Square Garden will not surpass.

It is rumored that Mr. Vanderbilt has promised to enter his horses, which include high-steppers of every description, as well as park and road four, pair, singles, and in the harness classes. Mr. Vanderbilt has won "the four" class in every show in which he has entered this season.

Mrs. Erkin will show Champion "News-boy" and a lot of other high-steppers as well as ponies and park hacks. Mr. Watson, who has entered the Watson cup, valued at $50, to be competed for in the big appointment class, in which owners must drive, will bring his wonderful stable to Richmond. Besides "Lord Baltimore," the champion of last year, he will have "Ringing Bells" (Lady Ophir), Virginia, West Virginia, and a dozen others, including several park hacks and ponies.

Miss Gertrude Gilbert, who has Mrs. Grosvener's old stable, managed by Jack Donnelly, will have the President and the Baron, a four and Corinne and Petrolium, both champion park hacks. These are but a few of the Northern exhibitors who it is thought will make entries.

Virginia Exhibitors. Among the Virginians, Mr. A. Randolph Howard, of Fredericksburg, will have a large number of entries, with his great going "Royal Regent," "Dr. Reid," "Patriot," "His Majesty," "Idaho," and "Idaho," and "Glenville."

Mr. W. Gordon McCabe, of Petersburg, will show his "Bit" and "Spur," a pair that has won both single and double in the Virginia circuit.

Messrs. Garber & Garber will have a number of horses at the show, including "Airs," "Breeze," and "Excellence," the latter an exceptionally handsome individual, and "The Limit."

Messrs. Herring & Meete will be represented by a chestnut four, as well as by park hacks and hunters.

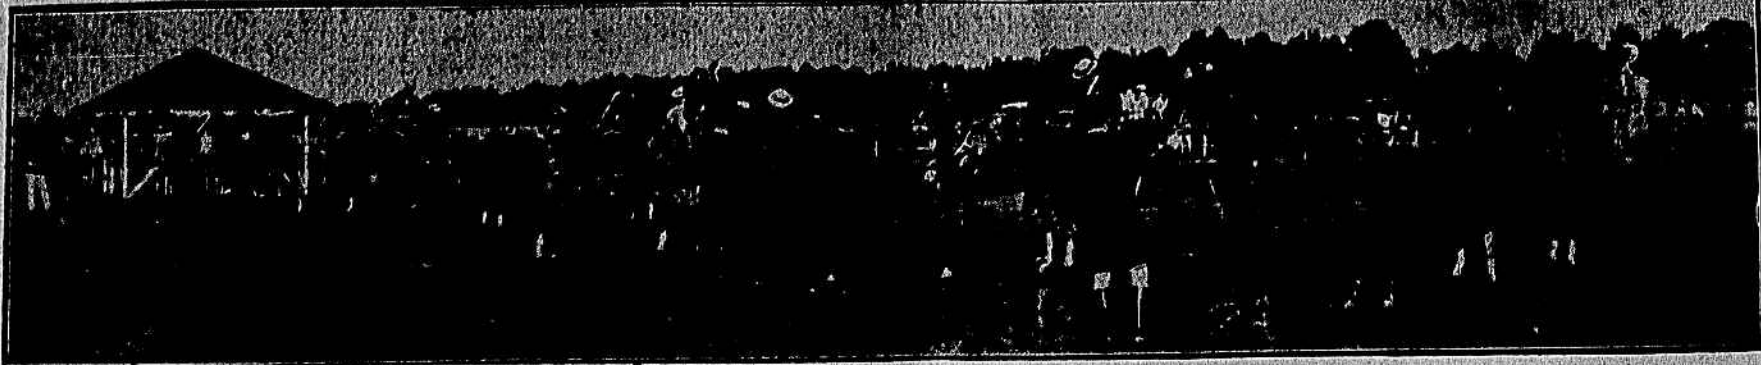

Outside of the harness class, there will be a large number of entries in the park hack and jump events.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair Johnson, of Warrenton, will have St. Leonards, the Favorite, Arelight, Granite, Bowery Girl, Chimpunk, Robin Adair, Jack Pot, The Oaks Farm, and show "Thornite, Kewick, Klor," "David Gray, Irish Rose, Reliance, Jack Tar and several ponies; Mr. F. AUTO RACING AT NORFOLK

Barney Oldfield Beat Ed. Bald Two Straight Heats at Fair Grounds.

ONE MILE IN ONE-TWENTY NINE SECONDS LESS.

Amateur Gill Makes a Mile in Nine Seconds Less. (Special by Southern Bell Telephone.) NORFOLK, VA., August 18.—In the automobile races on the Fair Ground's half-mile track this afternoon, Barney Oldfield beat Ed. Bald two straight heats in the Dixie Sweepstakes. Distance, two miles. Time, 2:40 and 2:55.

Howard Gill, of Baltimore, beat Ed. Bald in the one-mile one-heat race. Time, 1:25.

To establish a one-mile professional record for the track, Oldfield drove a mile around it in 1:20 flat, the first heat being made in 1:44.

For the amateur record, Gill made it in 1:28.

While no records were broken for the half-mile track race, it was by far the fastest ever seen in this section, and a crowd of people turned out to witness it. To most of the spectators it was a revelation to see Oldfield go around the track in his "Green Dragon" as fast as he did.

Most of the automobilists in this section of Virginia witnessed the race, and it is expected that local interest in automobilism will be materially enhanced.

Defeated Third Street. The Second Street baseball team defeated the Third Streets yesterday afternoon on the Lee Monument diamond, by the score of 8 to 5.

The batteries for the Third Street team were Wicker and Cucci; the Second Street batteries were Lumpkin, Stern and Walsh. Atkinson and Cornell umpired the game.

VIRGINIA CREW IN COMING RACES

Boat Club Decides to Enter Four-Oared Gig in Middle States Regatta.

TWO CREWS HARD AT WORK

Coach Russell Has Made Selections of Material on Which He Is Banking.

The Board of Governors of the Virginia Boat Club has decided that a four-oared gig should be entered in the junior and intermediate races of the Middle States Regatta, at Washington, on Monday, September 24.

Coach Russell has had two four-oared gig crews out practicing for the last few days, feeling well assured that a crew would be entered. The first crew which he is training is composed of new men entirely, none of them having raced at the late West Point regatta. They are: Smith, stroke; Grant, three; Christian, two, and Gilliam, one. Beers will coxswain the boat.

Unfortunately, some of the best oarsmen of the club are away on vacations or business, and will not be back in time to try for the crew. The present line-up, however, is very agreeable to Mr. Russell, who thinks, with hard and steady practice, he can develop a crew which can give any of their opponents a hard race for first place.

Among the boat clubs the Virginia crew will have to face will be the Alexandria, of that city; the Arundel and Ariel, of Baltimore; the Pennsylvania Barge and Fairmont, of Philadelphia.

This will be the seventeenth annual regatta of the Middle States Regatta Association, and entries are open to all amateur clubs in the world. Following are the races which will be held:

Junior single sculls, intermediate single sculls, association senior single sculls, senior single sculls, junior double sculls, intermediate double sculls, senior double sculls, intermediate quadruple sculls, for the international cup; senior quadruple sculls, junior octuple sculls, for the Kent cup; junior four-oared gig, intermediate four-oared gig, senior four-oared shell, junior eight-oared shell, senior eight-oared shell.

"LID" DOWN, BUT SPA IS MERRY

Season at Saratoga One of Gayest Ever Known There.

BETTING RING'S MIGHTY BATTLE

Race on Saturday for Cup Will Be Notable Event of Present Week—Struggle of New York Poolrooms to Get Information.

By J. S. A. McDonald.

SARATOGA, N. Y., August 18.—Though the "lid" is down at the gambling clubs the merry game of the sportsy Spa is booming along in fine style. There is racing, and good racing, with the betting ring affording the speculatively inclined inhabitants plenty of action, which is the consolation and the substitute in the matter of the absolute close-down of Richard Canfield's Saratoga Club, the last ten days or so.

Fashionable and well-dressed men and women are to be found every evening in the Venetian dining hall of the club, but over in the gaming Casino all is dark and quiet, for the curtains are drawn and even the roulette layouts and the faro banks have been removed to the cellar until such times as a more indulgent Governor than Frank W. Higgins rules at Albany, N. Y.

He it was who ordered the sheriff of Saratoga county—Frank W. Kavanagh—to see that no gambling be permitted in the county, under penalty of removal from the sheriff's office. There was nothing for Kavanagh to do but obey the mandate. Hence the close-down of the "lid."

But the lack of opportunity in which to woo the fickle Dame of chance and fortune has not killed the season, as generally predicted. The pessimists, for, as a matter of fact, the gayest and the most pleasurable term ever known here is now under full swing. Racing is the big thing, while the shows, the band concerts, the jolly dinner parties at the near-by Saratoga Lake, with the impromptu baseball games and especially arranged private boxing contests help to make up the general routine of diversion. As to the racing, one only has to look closely over the "dope" of the meeting to see that the very best horses in training have been and are to-day under the colors.

But the real crux of the game is found in the betting. Here a mighty battle has been waged with a tremendous volume of play every day since the opening. At this time, John A. Drake, true to his traditional inclinations to make the financial fur fly once the racing round strikes Saratoga, is the top sawyer for the bets more than any two men on the grounds, and is often involved to the amount of $25,000 on an afternoon's operations.

After Drake comes "Charley" Gates, while "Bob" Tucker is hitting them up at a great rate. On occasion this Western trainer will bet $10,000 on something he likes well. "Johnny" Lyons of San Francisco, Cal., tossed off a $25,000 bank roll in fifteen days at Brighton Beach, and did not come on here, while "Charley" Ellison, whose success on the Long Island tracks since early in July startled the turf, is waiting in ambush for some choice mediums now working quietly in the early morning at Hovea.

At least two horses in the "Blonde Plungers" stable will be ripe for a clean-up within the next few days.

RICHMOND AGAIN AT THIRD PLACE

Won From Danville Yesterday in Tenth Inning in Hard Battle.

PANDEMONIUM IN THE GRAND STAND

Long Went In to Bat for Salve in the Ninth Inning and Sent One to the Free Country, Bringing a Runner Home and Tying the Score.

Results of Yesterday's Games. At Richmond: Richmond, 4; Danville, 3. At Norfolk: Norfolk, 3; Portsmouth, 1. (Ten innings; darkness.) At Roanoke: First game—Roanoke, 1; Lynchburg, 0. Second game—Roanoke, 1; Lynchburg, 2.

Where They Play Monday. Richmond at Norfolk. Portsmouth at Danville. Roanoke at Lynchburg.

Standing of the Clubs. Clubs. Won. Lost. P. C. Lynchburg 52 38 57% Norfolk 44 48 47% Danville 44 49 47% Roanoke 38 55 41% Portsmouth 36 54 40%

US SALVE won his game from Danville yesterday, and restored Richmond to the third position, where she has been "keeping house" for some time. The score was 4 to 3, the winning run being hit in the tenth inning, and applause that shook the grandstand, the bleachers and the soda water counter on the outside.

But if the game is to go to any one (and, officially, it does go to his credit), Long was the man for the Lawmakers. In the ninth inning, with a man on third base and one out, the big Richmond twirler went in to bat for Salve. It was not because Salve was not doing good work in the box, but because Long was the best man with the willow. Four balls were fouled by the big fellow, and then one came from the hand of Evans that suited his fancy. He sent it spinning between third and short, and the run that tied the score came across.

Pandemonium Reigned. There was pandemonium. Five thousand fans impatiently waited for two hours or more to witness such a feat: arose at one time, and every man and woman had his or her mouth open. Sounds came from the vacuum, and these sounds reverberated through the park, even those who perchance lived in close proximity to the diamond being disturbed by the yelling, the shrieking and the shouting.

Long had been put in at the right time, and he had made good with the willow. Even so did he make good with the twirling, curving, revolutionizing motion of his balls, for he had the Tobaccoists guessing the balance of the game. The last man who faced him did nothing better than kill a few microbes that infested the atmosphere around the rubber.

The game, had it gone to Danville, would have put a damper on the spirits of the Richmonders. It would have sent the Lawmakers down near to Portsmouth, and the third place would very probably have been forgotten for the season, so far as Richmond is concerned. For eight long innings, too, it looked as though the Tobaccoists would have the best end of the proposition. They were two to one, and Richmond had only one time at bat. Evans was doing good work and the bets were great that the visitors would have the game.

How Trick Was Done. Shaffer came to bat in the ninth and led with a hit. Hinton dropped one down the third base line that sacrificed himself nicely. Salve was the next batter, and there was one run needed to tie the game and two to win it. Long was called from the bench to take the place at bat of the southpaw, and Long kept on fouling the balls. Finally Evans stuck one over that looked good to him, and the big twirler smacked it clear to the free country. Shaffer came across with the run that tied the matter up. Boyd sent a long one to left-field, and Powell doubled Long at first. The throw was a beautiful one, and, even though it was pulled off by a Danville man, the fans were there with the applause.

Richmond changed her tactics and went to bat first in the game. This was due to the fact that there was but one game. Umpire Rollins was in the act of announcing the batteries for the day.
